1. Notes

1.1. Data pulled from 5/26/2023-7/13/2023, may be subject to change. The Office designation of some programs may be partially representative of the responsible parties for the resource itself. Refer to the linked resources for most current information.

1.2. Overview of Categories

1.2.1. Maps

1.2.1.1. Maps refers to data primarily displayed in a geographic format/map and may have a data download ability.

1.2.2. Research and Education

1.2.2.1. These resources are often toolkits, educational resources with a target audience, or informational resources without a clear administrative purpose.

1.2.3. Open Data Portals

1.2.3.1. These are "data warehouses" which will have large amounts of data in various formats or methods of display. These datasets may be available for download or accessible in an accompanying display viewer.

1.2.4. Downloadable Data and Queryable Tools

1.2.4.1. These tools are tools that are predominantly tools with a user interface that prepares data and/or a data display in accordance with your specification.

1.2.5. Software and Models

1.2.5.1. These resources are software (web-hosted or download dependent) and models that tend to have a specific application with technical documentation and system/data input specifications. Additionally, these resources may be a formatted spreadsheet with accompanying instructions.

1.2.6. Government Tools

1.2.6.1. Government tools refers to resources that are for a specific use, but do not clearly fit the other tools and data categories. An example of this is a greenhouse gas footprint calculator, or a tool for locating energystar appliances.

1.2.7. Policy and Administrative

- 1.2.7.1. These resources refer to administrative and policy documents. Examples of this include: strategic plans for the agency, legislation look-up, structure of department information, and definitions of technical terms.

2.1.1. Department of Education

2.1.1.1. Florida Department of Education PK-12 PUBLIC SCHOOL DATA PUBLICATIONS & REPORTS

2.1.1.1.1. Publications and reports from FLDOE

2.2. United States Congressional Joint Committee on Printing- U.S. Government Publishing Office

2.2.1. <https://www.govinfo.gov/>

2.2.1.1. GovInfo is free U.S. Government information for all.

2.2.1.1.1. GovInfo is a service of the United States Government Publishing Office (GPO), which is a Federal agency in the legislative branch.

2.2.1.2. GovInfo provides free public access to official publications from all three branches of the Federal Government.

2.2.1.2.1. GovInfo replaced the FDsys website in December 2018.

2.2.1.2.2. GPO launched GovInfo in February 2016 as a beta website to replace its predecessor, GPO's Federal Digital System (FDsys). Learn about the transition.

2.2.1.3. GovInfo is more than a website.

2.2.1.3.1. In addition to providing an advanced, metadata-powered search experience, GovInfo also includes a content management system and a standards-compliant preservation repository.

2.2.1.4. These three components comprise GPO's world-class system for the comprehensive management of electronic information:

2.2.1.4.1. Public access - GPO combines modern search technology with extensive metadata creation to ensure the highest quality search experience. Users can easily access documents for free by searching or browsing the mobile-friendly website.

2.2.1.4.2. Content management – GPO securely controls digital content throughout its lifecycle to ensure content integrity and authenticity. This includes the application of digital signatures to PDF files so users can verify documents have not been altered and are the official versions.

- 2.2.1.4.3. Digital preservation – GPO’s ISO 16363 certified Trustworthy Digital Repository ensures content is preserved for future generations despite technical failure, aging of hardware, or technological change.
- 2.2.1.5. What can I find on GovInfo?
 - 2.2.1.5.1. See what's available, including information on individual publications or collections of content, or view an alphabetical list of collections, publications, other resources, and external partner sites.
- 2.2.2. U.S. Government Publishing Office
 - 2.2.2.1. What We Do
 - 2.2.2.1.1. Produce and distribute information products and services for all three branches of the Federal Government, including U.S. passports for the Department of State as well as the official publications of Congress, the White House, and other Federal agencies in digital and print formats.
 - 2.2.2.1.2. Provide for permanent public access to Federal Government information at no charge through the Federal Depository Library Program \(FDLP\) and govinfo.
 - 2.2.2.1.3. Operate distribution centers in Laurel, MD and Pueblo, CO that fulfill orders for Government publications.
 - 2.2.2.2. <https://catalog.gpo.gov>
 - 2.2.2.2.1. The CGP is the finding tool for federal publications that includes descriptive information for historical and current publications as well as direct links to the full document, when available. Users can search by authoring agency, title, subject, and general keywords, or click on "Advanced Search" for more options.
 - 2.2.2.2.2. Also try our federated search engine MetaLib to retrieve reports, articles and citations by simultaneously searching across multiple U.S. Federal Government databases.
 - 2.2.2.2.3. Use the Federal Depository Library Directory \(FDLD\) to find a library near you for expert assistance in finding and using U.S. government information.
 - 2.2.2.2.4. The Catalog of U.S. Government Publications (CGP) is the search tool for print and electronic titles of the National Bibliography of U.S. Government Publications. The National Bibliography is made up of publications from across the legislative, executive, and judicial branches of the U.S. Government.

- 2.2.2.2.5. In this resource you will find bibliographic information about publications and links to digital publications when available. It is important to remember the CGP is a bibliography, not a document repository. The CGP will only provide links to full-text resources that are the official, authoritative copy of an electronic resource.
- 2.2.2.2.6. Scope
 - 2.2.2.2.6.1. Bibliographic information for new and historic Government Publications dating back to the late 1800s
 - 2.2.2.2.6.2. Over one million bibliographic records generated since July 1976
 - 2.2.2.2.6.3. Over 240,000 links to official full-text electronic titles
 - 2.2.2.2.6.4. Updated daily
- 2.2.2.2.7. History
 - 2.2.2.2.7.1. Originally launched online in the mid-1990s, the current CGP came online in 2006. The CGP was originally the online counterpart of the Monthly Catalog of United States Government Publications. Commonly referred to as the Monthly Catalog, or MoCat, it lists all of the publications produced by the U.S. Government Printing Office from 1895 to 2004. The MoCat was discontinued with the December 2004 edition; now the continuously-updated CGP serves as the official record.
 - 2.2.2.2.8. Access the MoCat and Government Document Indexes (GDI) at:
 - 2.2.2.2.8.1. MoCat: <https://purl.fdlp.gov/GPO/gpo159963>
 - 2.2.2.2.8.2. GDI: <https://purl.fdlp.gov/GPO/gpo161419>
- 2.2.3. Federal Depository Library Program
 - 2.2.3.1. The United States Government is the largest publisher in the world. Every day the U.S. Government issues congressional bills, laws, regulations, presidential documents, studies, and more on a variety of topics. The Federal Depository Library Program (FDLP) was established by Congress to ensure that the American public has access to its Government's information. The Federal Depository Library Program (FDLP) is administered by the U.S. Government Publishing Office (GPO).

- 2.2.3.2. Since 1813, select U.S. Government documents have been made available throughout the United States and its territories to designated libraries. These designated libraries are called Federal depository libraries.
 - 2.2.3.3. As members of the FDLP, depository libraries play a prominent role in providing Federal Government information to the public. FDLP libraries collaborate on a local and national level to provide informed access to both historical and current Federal Government resources distributed through the FDLP and deposited in libraries across the country.
 - 2.2.3.4. Anyone can visit Federal depository libraries and use the Federal depository collections which are filled with information on careers, business opportunities, consumer information, health and nutrition, legal and regulatory information, demographics, and numerous other subjects.
 - 2.2.3.5. The authority for the Federal Depository Library Program (FDLP) and the legal obligations of designated Federal depository libraries are found in 44 United States Code §§1901-1916.
- 2.3. The Office of the Federal Register (OFR), National Archives and Records Administration (NARA), and the U.S. Government Publishing Office (GPO)
- 2.3.1. <https://usgovernmentmanual.gov/About>
 - 2.3.1.1. About Us
 - 2.3.1.1.1. The Office of the Federal Register (OFR), National Archives and Records Administration (NARA), and the U.S. Government Publishing Office (GPO) publish The United States Government Manual. The U.S. Government Manual website is jointly administered by the OFR–GPO partnership. Go to the OFR.gov website for more information and links to our publications and services.
 - 2.3.1.2. About the U.S. Government Manual
 - 2.3.1.2.1. The United States Government Manual is the official handbook of the Federal Government. This current edition of the Government Manual provides comprehensive information on the legislative, judicial, and executive branches. It also includes information on quasi-official agencies, international organizations with U.S. membership, and Federal boards, commissions, and committees.
 - 2.3.1.3. A typical agency descriptions includes:
 - 2.3.1.3.1. A list of officials heading major operating units

- 2.3.1.3.2. A summary of the agency's mission and role in the Federal Government
- 2.3.1.3.3. A brief history of the agency, including its legislative or executive authority
- 2.3.1.3.4. A description of agency programs and activities
- 2.3.1.3.5. A set of Web sites, street addresses, and phone numbers for services, benefits, and other public information
- 2.3.1.4. This website offers three ways to find information on Government agencies and organizations.
 - 2.3.1.4.1. Enter a term in the keyword search box at the top left of the home page.
 - 2.3.1.4.2. Browse by category using the drop-down menu in the middle of the home page.
 - 2.3.1.4.3. Use "The Government of the United States" site map at the top right of the home page for an overview of the Government.
- 2.3.1.5. Editorial and Update Process
 - 2.3.1.5.1. The current Government Manual database relies on information submitted to the OFR by Federal agencies and organizations, as required under 1 CFR part 20. OFR editors review and edit the submissions to produce organized and concise descriptions of Federal agency programs and activities. Agency liaison officers are consulted to verify the currency of the Government Manual's content at least once a year. The OFR exercises final editorial control over all editions of the Government Manual. To keep pace with changes in Government programs and leadership, OFR editors may amend the current edition throughout the year, using information verified by them or by the liaison officers.
- 2.3.1.6. Official Edition and Legal Status
 - 2.3.1.6.1. The United States Government Manual is a special edition of the Federal Register, issued under the authority of the Administrative Committee of the Federal Register (See 1 CFR part 9.). In addition to the current edition, previous editions of the Government Manual are accessible on the govinfo website, and some previous editions are available in hardcopy from the GPO Bookstore.
- 2.3.1.7. Federal Register publications and services are provided to the public under the Federal Register Act (44 U.S.C. Ch. 15), the GPO

Electronic Information Access Enhancement Act of 1993 (44 U.S.C. 4101), and related public information laws of the United States.

- 2.3.2. Department of Health and Human Services
 - 2.3.2.1. CDC State & Territorial Health Department Websites
 - 2.3.2.1.1. Looking for the website of a state or territorial health department? The resources below link to health departments in all 50 states, 5 territories, 3 freely associated states, and the District of Columbia.

 - 2.3.3.1.1. Guidance from the National Institute of Standards and Technology to help organizations manage and reduce cybersecurity risk
- 2.3.4. Department of Justice
 - 2.3.4.1. DOJ Training Overview
 - 2.3.4.1.1. The Department of Justice (DOJ) has made a collection of training resources available for JustGrants users. Training materials include self-guided eLearning videos, which are supplemented by job aid reference guides, checklists, and infographics. These resources will help users learn to navigate the system effectively and complete various essential grants management tasks.

3. Maps

- 3.1. Miami Specific Resources
 - 3.1.1. Miami Dade County Environmental Considerations
 - 3.1.1.1. The Environmental Considerations Application(ECA) is an educational tool that helps to identify what types of Environmental Geographic data may be found at select locations. When determining whether to buy or build on a property, residents, visitors and business owners should consider what potential environmental impacts, if any there might be to a property.
 - 3.1.2. City of Miami GIS Applications Portal
 - 3.1.2.1. City of Miami Zoning
 - 3.1.2.1.1. The map allows users to search property owners, zoning, land use, and more.
 - 3.1.2.2. See the Portal for more resources.
 - 3.1.3. City of Miami GIS Open Data Portal
 - 3.1.3.1. This is the City of Miami's public platform for exploring and downloading open GIS data, discovering city resources, and engaging to solve important local issues. You can download and use our Open Datasets in a variety of GIS softwares. Apps provide simple access to information and tools for citizens to understand your community. Please explore the applications below and find out more about zoning codes, properties, flood zones, parks and other important community assets.

3.1.4. Miami MDC Flood Zones Map

3.1.4.1. Flood Zones are geographic areas the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) have determined to be at a higher risk of flooding than average.

3.2. Federal Resources

3.2.1. UDS Mapper

3.2.1.1. The UDS Mapper is designed to help inform users about the current geographic extent of U.S. federal (Section 330) Health Center Program (HCP) awardees and look-alikes, and was largely designed upon algorithms and reporting methods developed by John Snow, Inc. for BPHC-requested service area analyses. The information available in the UDS Mapper includes estimates of the collective service area of these health centers by ZCTA, including the ratio of HCP awardee and look-alike patients reported in the Uniform Data System (UDS) to the target population, the change in the number of those reported patients over time, and an estimate of those in the target population that remain unserved by HCP awardees and look-alikes reporting data to the UDS (but may be served by other providers).

3.2.1.2. Due to data limitations, this tool is meant to be only one of many important resources available for exploring the extent of health centers. To inform additional exploration, users can also map U.S. Census data and see the locations of all HCP awardees and look-alikes and their service delivery sites, locations of other federally-linked providers (NHSC Sites, Rural Health Clinics, Tribal Organization Facilities, etc.), and shortage areas such as Health Professional Shortage Areas (HPSAs) and Medically Underserved Areas/Populations (MUA/Ps).

3.2.2. National Park Service

3.2.2.1. National Register of Historic Places

3.2.2.1.1. Public, non-restricted data depicting National Register spatial data processed by the Cultural Resources GIS facility. Last minor update, September 2020.

3.2.3. United States Fish and Wildlife Service

3.2.3.1. U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service Information for Planning and Consultation \(IPaC\)

- 3.2.3.1.1. See if any listed species, critical habitat, migratory birds or other natural resources may be impacted by your project. Using the map tool, explore other resources in your location, such as wetlands, wildlife refuges, GAP land cover, and other important biological resources.

3.3. State of Florida Resources

3.3.1. Florida Department of Environmental Protection

3.3.1.1. Florida Department of Environmental Protection FDEP Brownfields Map

- 3.3.1.1.1. Map Direct focus for viewing Brownfield data. The primary goals of the Brownfields Redevelopment Act are to reduce public health and environmental hazards on existing commercial and industrial sites that are abandoned or underused due to these hazards; create financial and regulatory incentives to encourage voluntary cleanup and redevelopment of sites; derive cleanup target levels and a process for obtaining a "No Further Action" letter using Risk-Based Corrective Action principles; and provide the opportunity for environmental equity and justice. Please view the Memorandum of Agreement between the Florida Department of Environmental Protection and the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency - Region 4 for complete information.

3.3.1.2. Florida Contamination Locator Map

- 3.3.1.2.1. Welcome to the Florida Department of Environmental Protection's (DEP) Contamination Locator Map (CLM -"Clem"). By specifying an address, a city or a zip code, you can use CLM to locate nearby sites that are currently under DEP's cleanup oversight. Using search criteria, CLM identifies sites by name, address, facility identification number, and cleanup status - active or pending. Although all sites in CLM are suspected or perceived to be contaminated, further investigation may show that some sites are not contaminated. Conversely, some contaminated sites that are still undergoing preliminary screening by the Department may not yet appear in CLM. Sites that are closed or are no longer under DEP's cleanup oversight will not appear in CLM. Also, CLM may not include all information about federal facilities.

3.3.1.2.2. The CLM subscription service enables you to track cleanup milestones at contaminated sites listed in CLM.

3.3.1.2.2.1. To subscribe to this service, please select a contamination site in CLM, click on the "Watch this site" link and provide an e-mail address where requested in the new window.

3.3.1.2.2.2. You may subscribe to more than one site.

3.3.1.2.2.3. You will receive an e-mail notification when a contamination cleanup milestone event occurs at your selected sites.

3.3.1.2.3. Some of the sites in CLM are currently in the cleanup process and subscribers will be notified when the next milestone event occurs. Other sites are on a priority list awaiting cleanup funding so it may be some time before the first milestone event occurs. For more information on contamination cleanup, please see <https://floridadep.gov/waste>. For any other information about cleanup sites call the Waste Cleanup Site toll-free number at 1-866-282-0787. You may leave a message including the name and facility identification number for the site in question. Every effort will be made to return your call within 24 hours.

3.3.2. Florida Department of Emergency Management

3.3.2.1. Florida Department of Emergency Management Geoportal

3.3.2.1.1. Welcome to the Florida Division of Emergency Management's Open Data Portal. This Hub Site provides the ability to search, filter and download authoritative geographic data developed by the FDEM GIS Unit. To search for data of interest, enter search terms in the text box above or you can view featured interactive mapping applications, dashboards, and additional resources below.

3.3.3. Other

3.3.3.1. Florida Geographic Data Library Map Viewer

3.3.3.1.1. FGDL Information Page

3.3.3.1.2. The Florida Geographic Data Library (FGDL) is a collection of Geospatial Data, and serves as a mechanism for distributing spatial (GIS) data throughout the state of Florida. The FGDL is warehoused and maintained at the University of Florida’s GeoPlan Center, a GIS Research and Teaching Facility, with support from the Florida Department of Transportation. The GIS data available in FGDL is collected from various state, federal, and other agencies (“data sources”) who are data stewards, originators, producers, or publishers.

- 3.3.3.1.3. GeoPlan’s experienced analysts work with staff from the data origin to bring Florida spatial data into the FGDL library, follow good data management procedure, and guide data sharing within a framework for standardization. Ultimately, the FGDL serves as a data housing operation that provides a full spectrum of users with access to open source information. The FGDL therefore supports research and improves decision-making through many practices, throughout the state.
- 3.3.3.1.4. FGDL data categories are very diverse, and include land cover, hydrography, soils, environmental quality, conservation, transportation, and boundaries. In 1998, when the project was launched, the website consisted of 80 layers. The site currently contains over 600 layers and continues to expand into new disciplines and practices. FGDL has grown into an integral academic library for the College of Design, Construction, and Planning in the University of Florida and is a valuable resource for a variety of professions in the state of Florida.
